This online Short Course provides an orientation for International Medical Graduates (IMGs) to the Australian health care system to fulfil the needs of AHPRA. Every IMG is required under AHPRA to undergo this orientation. The current process is time consuming, difficult and inconsistent, as it is performed by Supervisors with variable skill levels. This course provides up-to-date information and is assessed formally to ensure adequate knowledge is attained and provides the depth of knowledge that is extremely difficult to provide by working clinicians in the hospital or private sector. The course is designed exactly as set out in AHPRA's orientation requirements, so it very clearly covers the issues required to achieve AHPRA compliance.

Following successful completion a signed certificate is provided to the candidate and the supervisor then needs to provide the relevant local orientation to complete the prerequisites for AHPRA registration.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

1. Understand how the Australian Health Care System works
2. Understand the requirements of doctor and their professional requirements in the Australian Health Care System
3. Fulfil AHPRA requirements for IMG orientation to Australian (this does not include local family orientation)
